Standing Room Only . . .

As the days began to grow shorter and nights cooler, students began to get ready for the opening of school and teachers began preparing for another year of academic life. It was rumored that LHS was going to be over crowded, and on Aug. 25, 1983, this rumor became fact. As the halls quickly began filling, it was quite obvious there was "Standing Room Only." The total amount of students mingling through the hallways was about 2400, but the enrollment grew each day. Old friendships were renewed and new students found new friends. The sophomores were easily spotted with a look of confusion pasted on their faces. Seniors tried their best to sell elevator passes to the unsuspecting sophomores while juniors tried to look cool since they weren't the youngest at LHS. Schedules were handed out through advisory classes as the new school routine began to shape up. Crowded conditions weren't only found in the halls, but in the lunchroom as well. The five 30-minute lunches were so crowded that elbow room needed for eating was scarce. Students later found an easy way out of the crowds by being suspended to the new PASS program; these folks beat the crowd to lunch and literally stayed out of the packed hallways. The parking lot was a very dangerous scene all year long. In order to find a good parking spot one had to get to school before 8 a.m. which was very difficult for most students. Only a few people exited the parking lot without some type of fender bender. Congratulations to those who survived LHS's smash-up derby. Even though there was "Standing Room Only," the traditions passed on each year still existed in Lewisville High School. †

Being a part of the crowd was very important to Lewisville High School students. It seemed that many came with the attitude of wanting to get involved in various activities. Student Council started the year off by getting people involved with sophomore and new student orientation. This familiarized the students with the school and student leaders. The cheerleaders made a valiant effort to involve people in supporting the football team. Some spirit days included sock it to 'em, Punk-Out Plano, and Halloween dress up. The gym overflowed with Farmer Fans at the beginning of the year, however the audience dwindled after the Farmers lost to Plano. The stormy clouds of defeat seemed to scare the fair weather crowds away.

Just Standing Around . . .

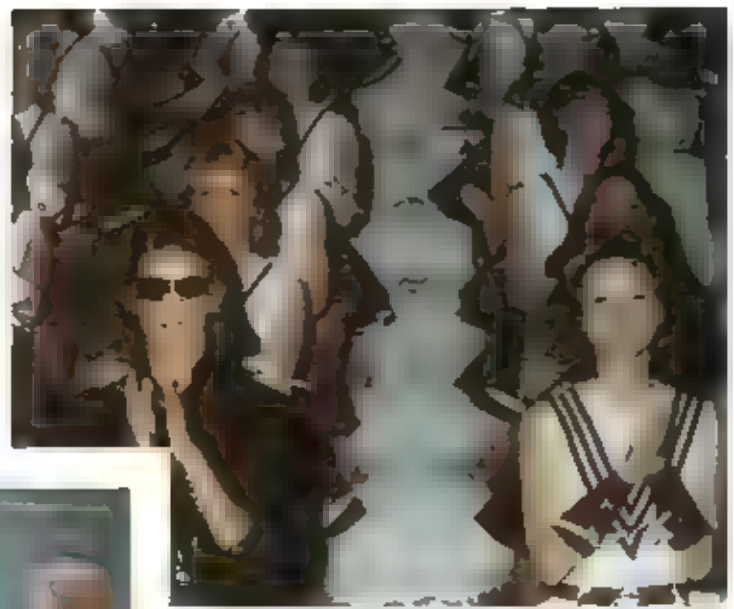

Lorri Stamps smiles to a friend as the Farmers go on to victory in a match-up with Eastern Hills, while the cheerleaders boost school spirit at a pep rally before a big game. Another wild group of students show their enthusiasm for the Farmers in their own unique way.

(Inset) Students prepare the bonfire for Homecoming festivities.

Students had different hangouts around the school. For instance, Dixie McMath's room 102 was cheerfully filled in the morning with the LHS cheerleaders. Football players or "jocks" could be seen holding up the walls in various places. The hallway near the cafeteria has always been reserved for the "kickers." The smoking crowd no doubt was found in the smoking courtyard. Let's not forget the bookworms seen making their way toward the library with a load of books. Standing around gave students a chance to socialize with their friends each day. ♡ Jeanne Rau

The LHS Farmerettes always look happy when they think of the Fighting Farmers winning another football game. Mrs. Marilyn Neiman, teacher, frequently shows her school spirit on school dress up days. She went on this year to become one of the finalists in the judging of Punk-Out Plano Day. The winner of the Punk-Out Plano contest was Dee Dee Ridinger who got the pleasure of "Punking" Assistant Principal Jill Spanheimer in the face with a pie.

Homecoming Traditions Continue

Homecoming came early for LHS this year. As soon as school began, preparations for the activities started bringing the classes together. Collections were taken from the students to build the class floats. Many sophomores were not aware of them as they unknowingly contributed to the senior float. Thanks sophomores, but the juniors came out on top! During the week of homecoming the excitement, enthusiasm and the spirit of "Big John" began to build. Homecoming queen nominees were announced and the float competition between the classes continued. The game between the Farmers and the Jesuit Rangers was on everyone's minds as spirit signs with the theme of "Jar Jesuit" began to fill the halls.

The traditional Homecoming parade was held on Sept. 16, 1983.

The day of Homecoming was filled with spirit, excitement and tension. Many girls went to school anxiously wondering if that "special guy" had gotten her a mum. Spirit ran high all day with the school pep rally being the last event of the school day. Then preparations for Homecoming night were in full swing.

As halftime neared, tension began to mount as everyone wondered what lucky girl would be LHS Homecoming Queen for 1983. Following this presentation was the announcement of the Homecoming queen and her court. As the game continued it was obvious that the Fighting Farmers would not be denied this Homecoming victory as they won to The slogan "Jar Jesuit" was going to come true tonight — Shari Anderson ♀

... What type of feelings or thoughts were going through their heads? "It was so much like a dream. I don't really have time to put thoughts together," said Gayla Randolph. It was hard for her to even express the feelings she had as she stepped out on the football field. "What am I going to wear? How can I fix my hair? What if it rains? These are a few things the LHS Royalty thought about before their big night. As Sept. 17 came nearer and nearer they all were putting their final touches on their evening attire. Each one wanted to and did look her very best. The anticipation and excitement was growing in everyone by the end of the week. The traditional crowning of the queen is an event in which everyone looks forward to. "The excitement broke when the announcement ... '1983-84 Homecoming Queen of LHS is Desiree Babler.'" Desiree expresses her emotions by stating, "The entire evening did not seem real. I just couldn't believe it. I was all happiness and excitement inside. I cannot express the honor I felt in receiving this title." This night held perhaps the brightest memories these girls will experience at Lewisville High School. — Jeanne Rau

. . . Fill The Halls

Students and teachers quickly adjusted to school life. After the first day the halls were quite busy with all the students trying to beat the tardy bell to get to class. The slower ones who made it a habit of being late found a new refuge in the PASS program, the Principal's Alternative to Student Suspension. Some seniors began at the start of the year struggling to keep their grades above passing in their favorite classes like civics and English. The juniors this year just sat back and relaxed more or less. They were just waiting for May to come around so they could finally wear the fabulous title of senior. The sophomores slowly got into the swing of high school life. They still are looking for the fourth floor and forever wanting to ride the elevator to escape the drudgery of walking up three flights of stairs. — Robert Segui ♪

A Typical Day In The Crowd

The sound of the alarm five days out of seven of the week wasn't enough to get most people out of bed. As the year progressed the nights seemed to grow shorter. Once one entered LHS, the crowds and confusion helped to wake up the bodies. By the time break rolled around most people stood and socialized with their friend or finished up last minute homework. The fastest 30 minutes occurred at lunch. This time was spent for socializing also. Anticipation began during fifth period as the day began to end. Sixth period seemed to be an endless class for at 3:25 the bell "toned" for the dismissal of school. — Jeanne Rau ♫

The 1983-84 student population explosion added to the already overcrowded halls of LHS. Fighting the crowd took more than the allowed time during passing periods. As a result, the time changed from five to seven minutes, causing yet more confusion than before. Changing classes was more of a chore than a break. During the first weeks of school, students spent more than the time allotted searching for their classrooms throughout the crowded halls. After becoming familiar with schedules and classrooms the students' search switched to finding the quickest possible way to class. — Darren Myers, Billy Kincaid ♡

Class of 1984 — Our class! So many thoughts, so many memories — A few sentences could hardly recall them all. But a few of them we will always remember. We are the last class who will have gone through Lewisville High School from the ninth through the twelfth grades — a long tradition — one no longer to be ... The honor and luxury of being the honorables this year at the prom and having to worry only about the color of the dress and tux we were going to wear — having a bit of "senioritis" — remember ... "sit downs" in the halls, putting LHS up for sale and preparing our Senior Skip Day; wondering how we would explain that familiar recording to our parents stating "your child was not in school today." ... — Shari Anderson ♡

Hopefully, we will have left a little of something special to each of those we leave behind. But the "Big Event," graduation, is uppermost in our minds - we all look forward to going on our own way but look back with fond memories of our four years at LHS. — Shari Anderson ♡

REACTIONS

Ben Denison

The drastic changes that have taken place in his four years at LHS are what Ben Denison will remember the most about LHS. But he'll also remember the great friends he has made. One reason Ben was awarded the title of Mr. LHS is his involvement in many school activities. These included Student Council, where he was president this year, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, also president this year, varsity football and baseball and he was a member of the wind symphony. Ben also was a member of the track and basketball teams for one year. The senior plans to attend Texas A&M and major in Business Administration. ♣

Desirée Babler

Being active is the best way to describe Desiree Babler. Among her accomplishments while at LHS are cheerleading, four years, National Honor Society, three years, debate, three years and Student Council. Desiree was also elected as Homecoming Queen this year. Desiree loves dancing and plans to attend Baylor where she hopes to major in communications. She said that she will remember the fun times at football games and pep rallies and especially "Homecoming and lasagna parties at Mrs. McMath's." ♣

Bruce McFarling

What do super intelligence and a great personality have in common? They both are a major part of what makes Bruce McFarling the most likely person to succeed from the class of '84. Bruce has been an active member of the student body as a senior representative, four years of football, one year of debate and a member of the National Honor Society. And how does he hope to succeed? As a lawyer so he can "make money." ♡

Jessica Goldstein

Jessica Goldstein is a prime example that success breeds success. As a member of the LHS debate and speech team she has garnered many awards during her years at the school. Jessica has also been involved in National Honor Society, as president this year, Spanish National Honor Society, as president also this year, Math Club, two years and as a member of the swim team her freshman year. She was also a National Merit Semifinalist this year as well. ♡

Gayla Randolph

Gayla Randolph's four years at LHS have been the best years of her youth. She's made sincere friends and will always have excellent memories of her good times at LHS. Gayla has participated in debate, Student Council, VOE and was a School traditions have played an important role in Lauren Robinson's years at LHS. Spirit and enthusiasm have also been important to her as is evident in her years spent as a cheerleader and in the drill team. Lauren has also been in the choir two years, in OEA, was Junior Homecoming Duchess and a Homecoming Queen nominee this year. Her future plans include attending Stephen F. Austin State University, then transferring to Baylor to get a degree in Dental Hygiene. ♡

Ralph Shelton

What are the requirements for being most friendly? How about an outgoing, spirited and flirtatious personality. Ralph Shelton is a person who meets all these requirements. He has been active in school by playing baseball four years and being a member of the Bell Crew. As far as what he will remember the most, Ralph puts school spirit and the friendly people at the top of the list. Ralph plans to attend the University of Georgia and major in business. He believes athletics promotes good work habits, discipline and the satisfaction of reaching a goal. As Athletic Director, Coach Wilson has had enormous responsibilities, but has enjoyed them. Sophomores Rate Teamwork Essential

The 1983-84 Fighting Farmer sophomore football team got off to a roaring start. Sometimes they were defeated by the rain, but our sophomore team continued to fight for victory. They often gave up crucial field positions with fumbles and stopped their own drives with turnovers or mistakes. They had to rely on each other to win. Confidence was a major factor in their game. The team began to carry out this role as their year progressed. The sophomores had 3 victories and 6 losses and 1 tie. ♡

Farmerettes Make It 5 In A Row

Winning its fifth consecutive district championship, the girls varsity basketball team again proved it was full of surprises.

The team walked away with a 14-0 district record, 25-5 overall. One of the better qualities of this year's team, according to Tate, was its aggressiveness — This paid off as the girls came from 18 points down in the first Berkner game to win.

"We were down 18 points in the first half and scored with five seconds to play to win 68-67," Tate said.

Although the team excelled this season, support from students did not. It was a disappointing season for the team as a very small percentage students attended the games. But support from the team itself spurred the girls onward to another district title.

Girls Defeat Carter To Take Bi-District

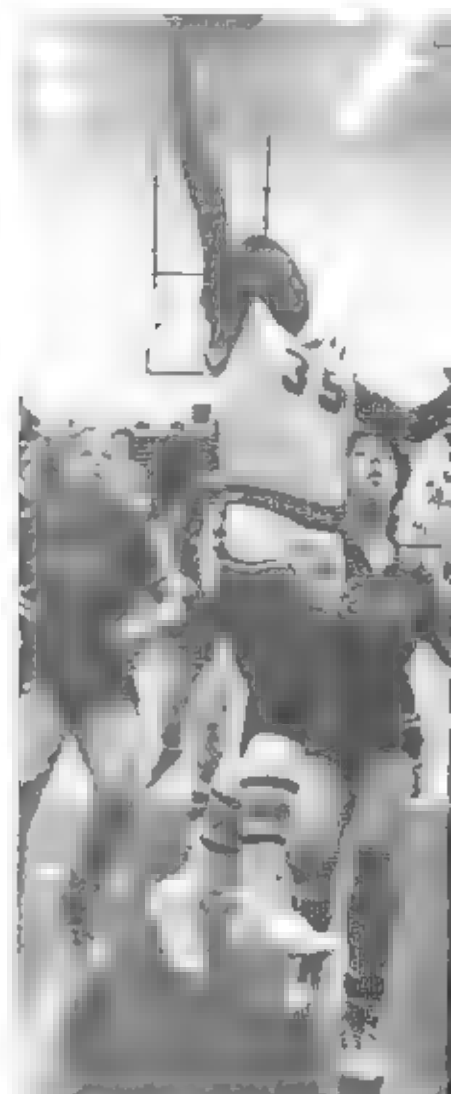

Girl's varsity basketballers did it again as they took the bi-district crown against Dallas Carter Feb. 16 at home. A capacity crowd turned out to support the team as they played a tough game, and won 67-45. The top scorer of the game was senior, Gwen Wells, with 24 points.

It was a hard fought game for both sides, with the Farmerettes putting their aggressive play into action. It was a good way to continue post season play for the team who was determined to make it five years in a row for the district crown and to continue as far into the playoffs as possible. ♡

JV Girls Shoot For 2, 4, 6, 8 . . .

The J.V. girls basketball had a good season this year, as they only lost one district game. Each player put forth 100 percent. They contributed to their success as a Junior Varsity team. Most of the players will continue to play next year and some will even be moved up to the varsity team. The purpose of the JV team is to prepare the girls for next year as varsity members. Each morning the girls get to school early so they can begin their workout. This workout consists of many drills and scrimmages against fellow players. This year the JV girls did a good job, and are looking forward to playing next year. ♡

Varsity Boys Learn To "Hustle"

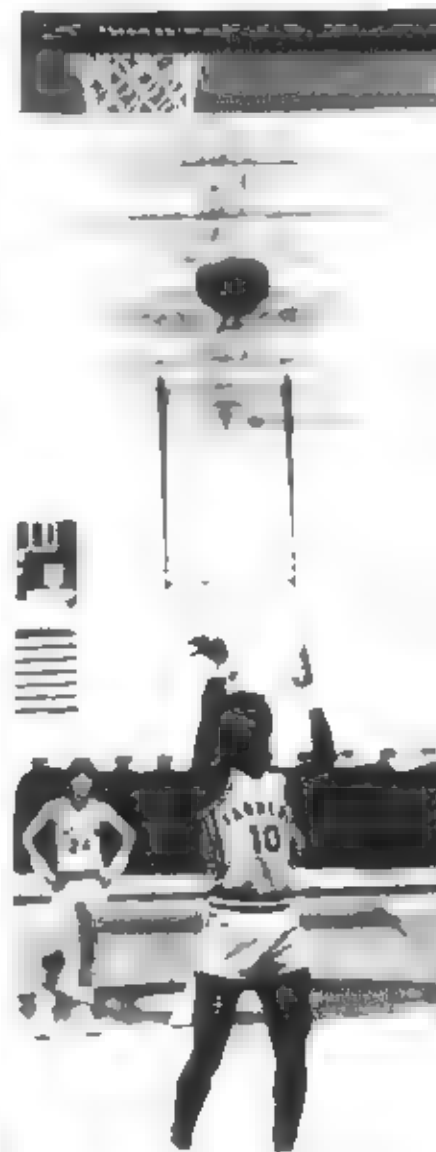

This year the Farmers had an unfortunate season; the worst that Coach Maples has seen. The guys had not yet found a second victory. According to Coach Maples it was a difficult season to handle and a long season to say the least. The last few games the Farmers did begin to learn what hustle means. Hustle is what they had to do just like their practice shorts say. They began to play very competitively and began to improve by the season's close. ♡

Cagers Put Excitement On The Court

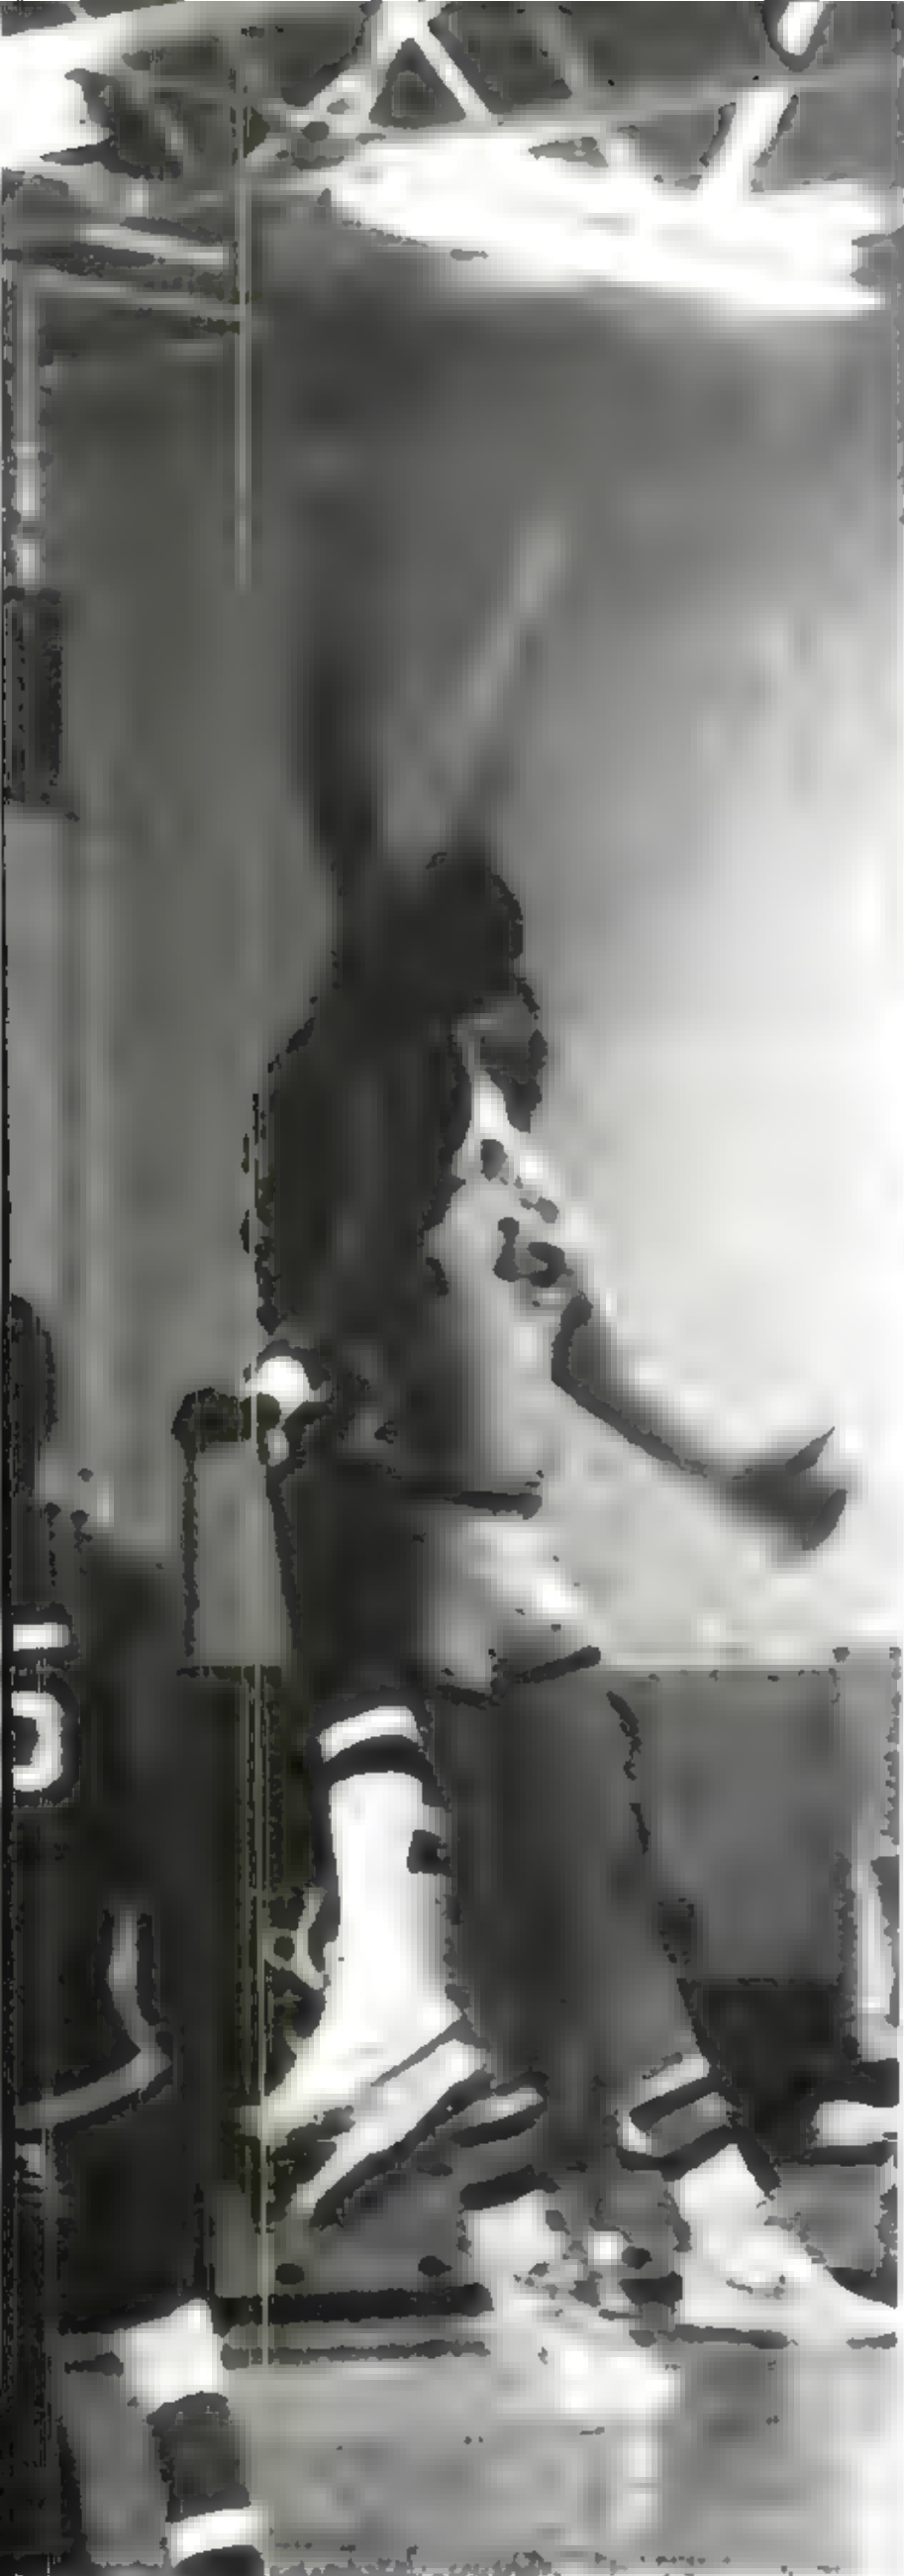

Although a slump at the beginning of district play saw the junior varsity round ballers lose six games in a row, the year was still fairly successful for the team. There were several exciting games for the cagers that left Coach Rick Perry proud of his young team. Toughest competition for the JVers came against the Sanger varsity when the team played in a varsity tournament. They lost 67 45. Perry listed experience as the team's best quality although the players did need to work on shooting. "We worked on our shooting mostly this year. Had we improved more, we could have won some of the close games we lost," Perry said. The coach also felt that several JV players will contribute to the varsity team next year. ♣

Introducing: Sophomore Basketball

Attitude and desire. Coach Gene Maples described his young sophomore team as having both of these qualities this year. "They showed that they are coachable, have an excellent attitude and know how to win," said Maples of his sophomores. This was the first year for a boys sophomore basketball team, but according to Maples, the results were excellent. He felt the Sanger JV Tournament was good experience for the team as they won against older competition. ♪

Swimmers Make Waves To Success

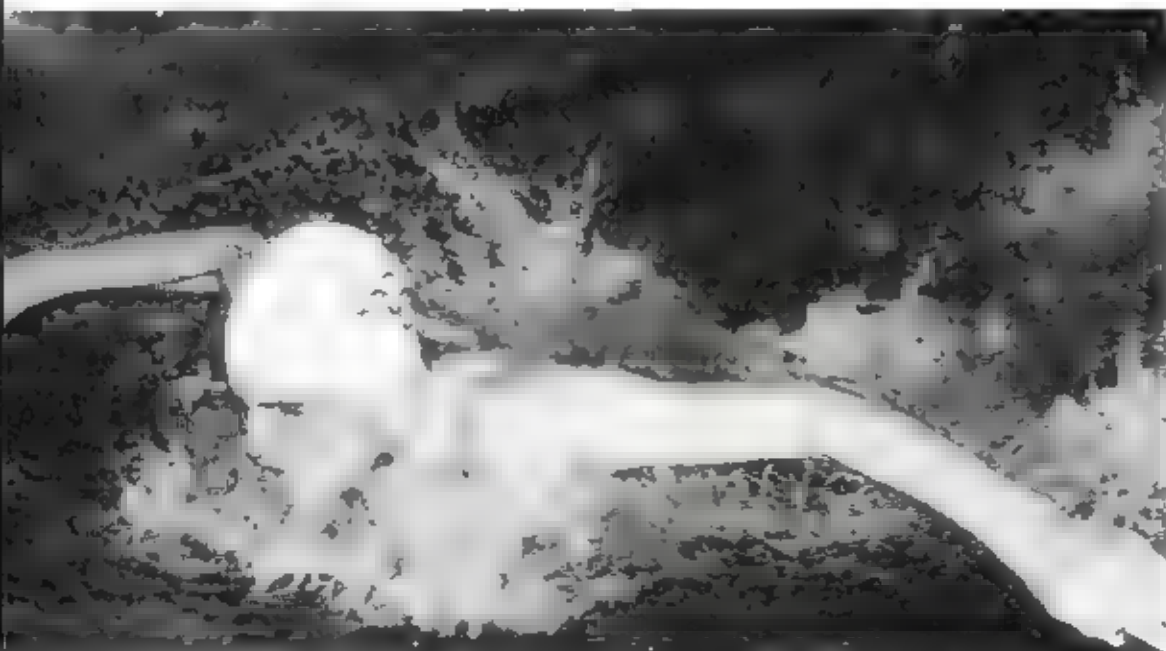

The swim team has again proven its worth. After walking away with first place in district this year, the team proved it was a group to be reckoned with.

According to Coach Debbie Oberlin the most exciting win came at the Arlington Martin meet. The toughest competition came during the Trinity Invitational.

But all the hard work paid off as the team placed first in district.

"The team has gone through a great deal this season together. Even though we had our ups and downs they still have shown a great deal of character and true teamwork," said Oberlin. γ

Opponents Fall For Wrestlers

Wrestling is a sport which consists of two opponents, one on one, trying to pin each other with special moves and techniques. Players score by escaping reversals, take downs, near pins and penalty points. A full pin for full count ends the match. This is Coach Noel Peterson's first year to coach at Lewisville. As a team, the group did not fare too well, but three wrestlers were able to advance to the state tournament including

Del Teach, Joe Lardizabal and Victor Vandervoort. The state meet was held at R.I. Turner with Teach coming in sixth in the 119 pound weight class. γ

The girl's soccer team opened with a 4-1 win over Plano and continued fairly successfully. Coach Petie Grant felt the 13 returning seniors and the incoming talent produced a team capable of true skill.

During practice the girls worked hard scrimmaging each other and practicing drills assigned by the coach. The girls obviously worked diligently to develop their talent. The girls felt that they had a good team and it seemed they were correct. ♡

Golfers Clear the Fairway

Golfers have eight tournaments in a school year and with 20 members not all players can compete in every tournament. Ten golfers are taken to the fall meets and five are taken to the especially important, two-day meets in the spring. Coach Greg Veal said the 1983-84 golf team played well, but a main goal was to improve concentration. Golfers got off to a good start placing seventh out of 18 teams in the Pearce Invationals. At the Mesquite Tournament the juniors placed fourth and the sophomores placed eighth out of 14 teams. However, these Fall tournaments did not count for District.

Tennis Makes

Despite being without its tennis courts, the tennis team managed to come away with a good season. Because of the poor condition of the courts, they were being rebuilt during the spring meet season. While waiting for them to be completed the team used the Flower Mound courts to practice.

... And Many Miles To Go

The LHS team was district champ, competing in a tough district, with Lake Highlands close behind them. "Our goal was to perform our best and make every effort possible to win it (district)," said Locke. "Almost everyone ran his personal best race up to that time."

The team started preparation in the summer and tried a new technique once the season began. They prepared two weeks for each meet where they worked hard for 11 days and rested for two. "However, we only stressed the BIG meet, district," Locke said. "That's where our goal was." ♡

Competition is what track meets are all about and this year coaches Teresa Smith and Darl Locke predicted their teams would be very competitive. "We have about 75 out for the team this year," said Locke, boys track coach. "And with that number I expect us to be competitive at most meets."

"I believe this is by far the strongest girls track team this high school has ever had," Smith said.

Locke said a miler may run five to ten miles on a distance-conditioning day, then stretch, then run a hard 330 yards for speed, then do some form work for his speed as well as weight lifting. According to Smith the sprinters did weights twice a week and intervals on the track twice a week.

"When I see an athlete trying to improve, I get self-satisfaction," Smith said.

Locke seemed to sum it up the best. "I feel the pursuing of an intelligent, realistic goal is basically what it is all about." ♣

“Who’s” On First; “What’s” On Second, And “Farmers” Slide Into Home

Last year left the baseball players with a disappointed attitude but this year the guys felt that they would be able to make that up. Attitude is very important in baseball. “The attitude is super,” said Coach Mike Campbell. The guys don’t like to mention last year, so they just concentrated on this year and how they could improve. The players worked on their strength and developing more power in their swings. This year the baseball players intended to iron out all the wrinkles of last year. ♡

Juniors In Control Of Many Activities

Responsibilities, responsibilities and more responsibilities. Being a junior isn't an easy job. There are many things a junior must do, but his most critical responsibility is raising money for the Junior-Senior prom. LHS juniors must go door to door selling magazine subscriptions to raise the needed funds. And this is not as easy as it sounds. Often there are many people who shut the door in one's face before the sales pitch is even given. But in the long run, it's worth the hassles. And the class managed to raise enough money to have a very formal prom May 12 at the Anatole.

Who says seniors always come out on top? This year, the juniors won first place in the float competition with its "Happy Trails" float. Juniors have come a long way since that freshman year of being frightened and insecure, and they are now ready to be the leaders of the pack. ♪

Underclassmen Become New Part Of School

Being a sophomore of the graduating class of '86 means finally being accepted into the LHS crowd. It can also mean causing a traffic jam on the stairway while trying to decide which floor your class is on, buying a pep rally ticket and losing your locker at the beginning of the school year. As the year progressed, the sophomores got used to being at LHS and began to feel like a part of it. The sophomores discovered the variety of LHS activities such as football games, school dances, pep rallies, band, Farmerettes and Homecoming. By getting involved with the school, the sophomores became a true part of LHS and became real Fighting Farmers. ♣

Kristi Yancey and Bart Jennings are the 1983-84 sophomore class favorites.

The sophomore class officers are Kim Mullan, reporter, Cindy Hart, secretary, Athena Tsakonas, vice president and Paul Farwell, president.

21 years of PRIDE

With inspiration, encouragement, and direction received from the exceptionally fine directors, the members strive to live by the examples they set. Preparation and hard work to achieve the goals before them; dedication and sacrifice to achieve excellence in those goals; love and respect for each other shown by the spirit and unity with which they face each challenge. This develops maturity and responsibility in each individual as he does his part and puts forth his best efforts to enable the band, as a group, to achieve excellence in meeting each challenge. Time and tradition have established a sense of pride in the band that seniors each year leave as their legacy to their fellow band members. For as Mr. Brashears said in a recent interview, "Success breeds success." So, as the senior band members leave each year, their hope is that the traditions they inherited and have strived to maintain will be cherished and continued by those remaining members. "For me, being a band member has given me the opportunity to really know our directors and grow to respect them greatly. I felt we, in the band became, a family for nine months of each year. The directors instill in each individual a sense of loyalty, to the band and to each other, that causes each band member to do his best and to go that "extra mile" needed to truly make the LHS Band. "The Band That Marches With Pride," Bettie Jameson said. — Bettie Jameson

Band Continues With Excellence

The LHS Marching Band is an institution in our school and has been for 26 years. The Band began in 1957, and has grown to be "The Band That Marches With Pride." During the 26 years it has been in existence, it has won 21 consecutive superior ratings in UIL Marching competition. In addition, there have been four consecutive "Sweepstakes" ratings won in UIL concert competition. Membership in the band has grown steadily during the years, until today there are approximately 160 members. Two directors guide the band in its efforts. The band endeavors to entertain the community with its outstanding marching performances during halftime at the Farmer football games and its musical expertise at various public concerts. Through the discipline necessary to attain the level of perfection demanded, the band members learn dedication, a sense of responsibility, respect for each other and for the directors and the authority they represent.

The band encourages a sense of responsibility to fellow members. Extra efforts are put forth by each individual so that the band does not fail because of one individual's lack of effort. Participation in the band develops a sense of pride in the band and in fellow members, as well as pride in ourselves for a job well done. — Bettie Jamison

Spirit + Sparkle = Cheerleaders

LHS varsity cheerleaders have been adding spirit, sparkle and enthusiasm to the school and community for many years. A varsity cheerleader must cease to think about herself and think only of the school and the students. Putting all personal problems aside, an LHS cheerleader must use her ingenuity to devise plans that will encourage the student body as well as the community to become involved in and support the various athletic events.

The LHS cheerleaders, under the supervision of Dixie McMath, begin their difficult task as soon as summer begins. Summer practices are three days a week. One week of the summer is spent at a Universal Cheerleading Association camp. The week involves intensified instruction, practice and competition from sunup to sundown. This year's squad competed in the selective final competition and received the key to the spirit award from the University of Arkansas camp.

When school begins, so does football season and long hours of practicing, pep rally planning, sign painting, ribbon selling and finally, pep rally and game performing. Special activities include spirit promoters such as the new spirit chain contest which the Class of '85 won this year. As football season closes, basketball season begins. This sport involves two games, two nights a week. The cheerleaders cheer for both girls' and boys' teams. Basketball season winds down only to crank up preparations for next year's tryouts and elections. Thus the process begins again.

As for the personal award of cheerleading, a varsity cheerleader gains much in the way of personal development. She develops unselfishness, dedication and teamwork. The unity of the varsity cheerleaders is important and a cheerleader learns to give of herself in order to build and sustain the group as a whole. — Desiree Babler

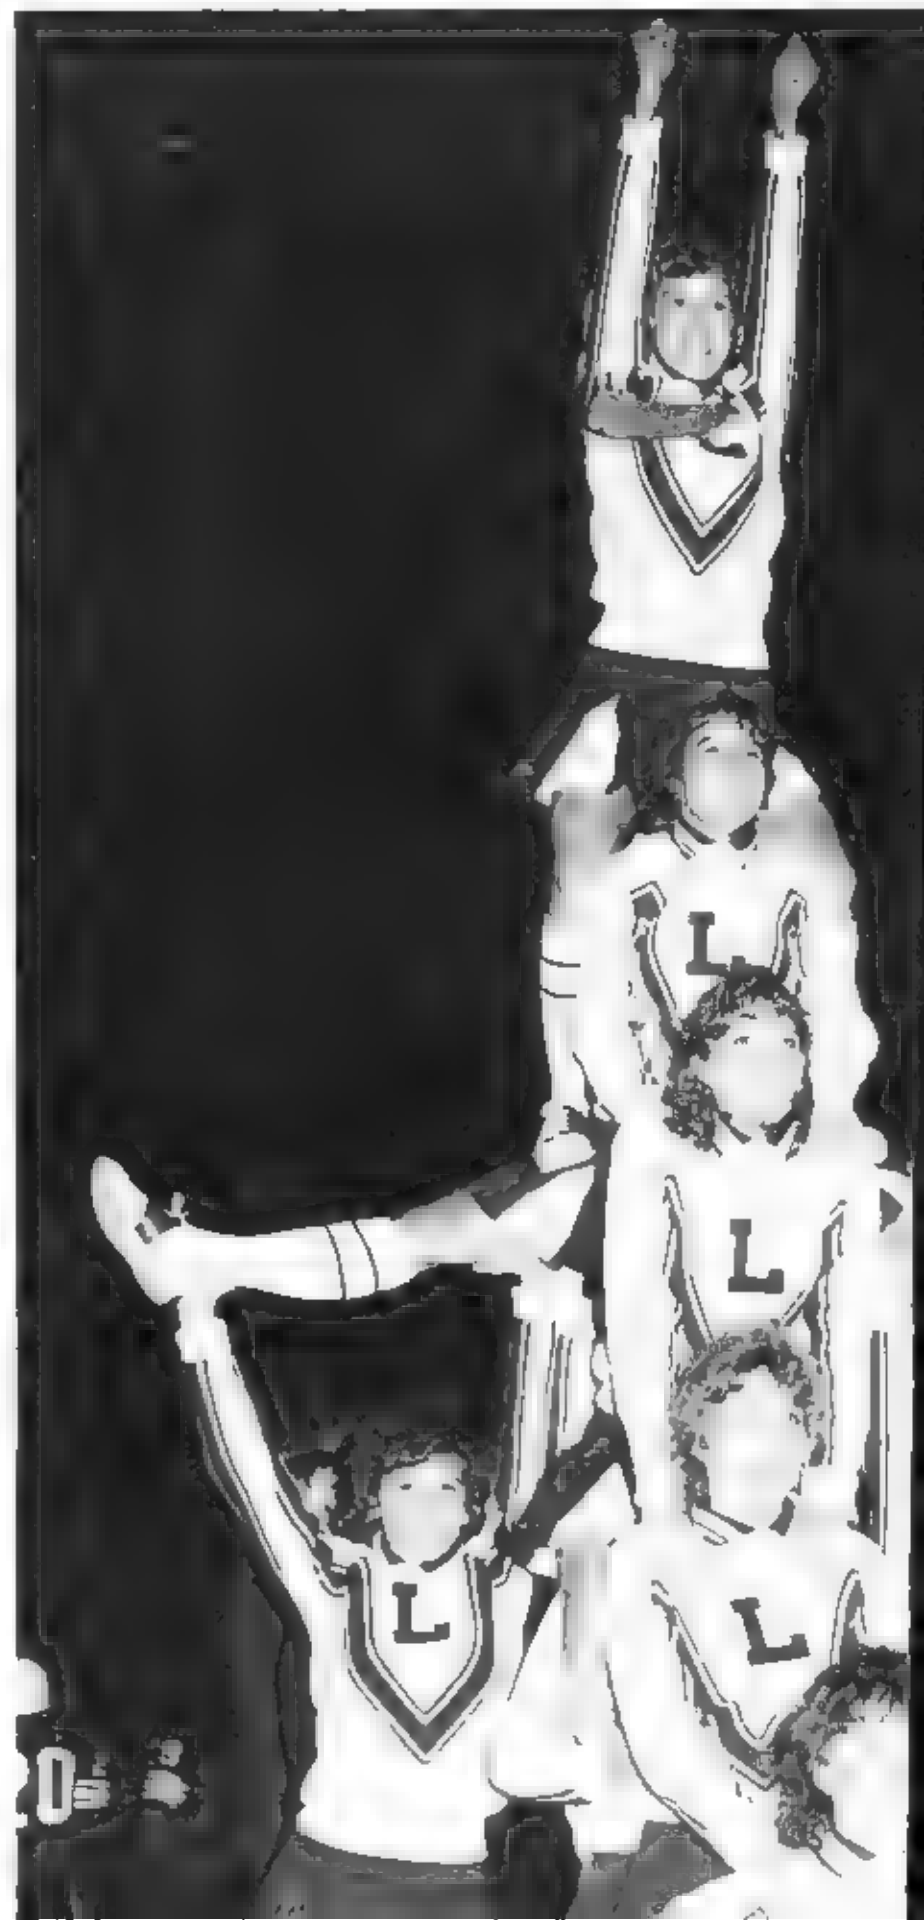

This year's senior cheerleaders are Lauren Robinson, Desiree Babler, Liz Priebe and Head Cheerleader Catherine Adkins. This is the second year they have cheered together.

"Go Farmers!" yells Senior Liz Priebe. Liz has been a cheerleader since the seventh grade.

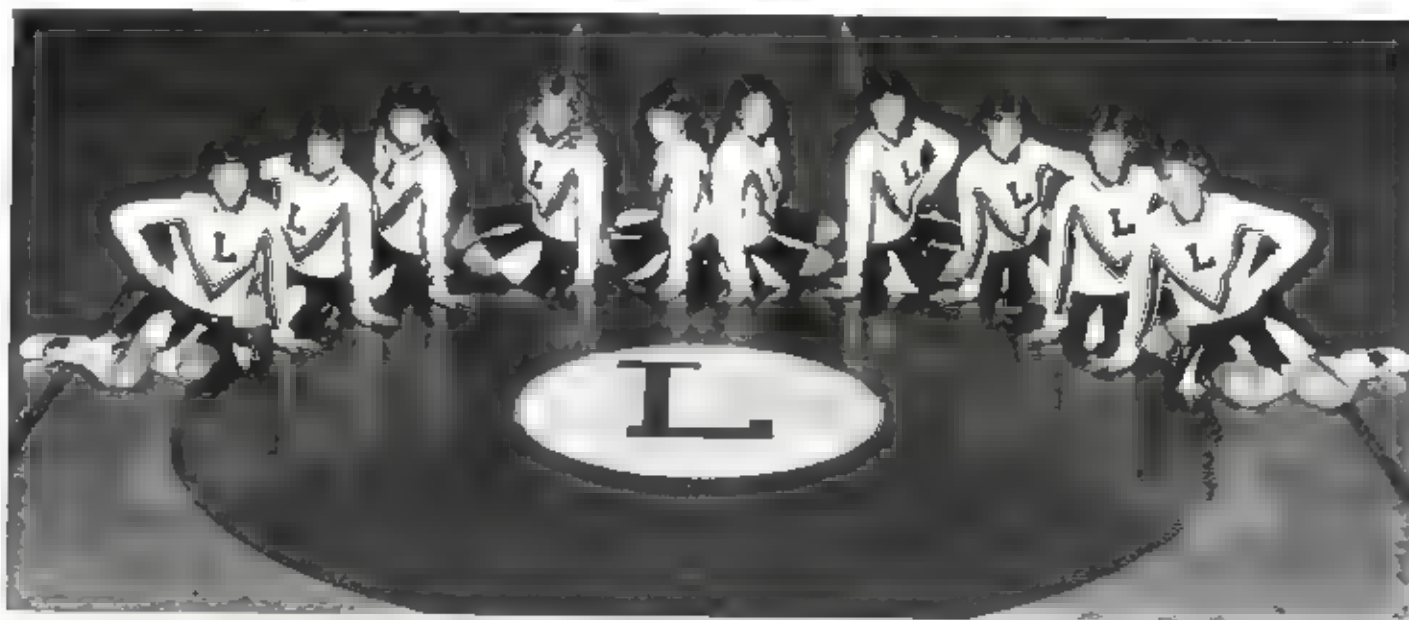

Cheerleaders perform one of the many stunts they perfected during summer practices. The cheerleaders also attended cheerleading camp over the summer where they learned new cheers and ideas.

Sponsor Dixie McMath waits patiently for the Homecoming festivities to begin. She has been the sponsor of the cheerleaders for 10 years.

J.V. Cheerleaders, Bell Crew Bolster Farmers

The JV cheerleaders lead hard working, enthusiastic lives this year. It started with nerve racking tryouts in April of last year. But out of all of this came individuals who worked hard to be a dedicated cheering squad. Practices began in June, with workouts twice a week at 6 a.m. By the end of the summer the squad had come together as a group as they won a spirit stick and a first place ribbon at the Lewisville Varsity Clinic.

With the beginning of the football season the real work began and continued throughout the school year. The JV cheerleaders supported and encouraged team spirit throughout the football and basketball season for both the sophomore and JV teams. The group also helped the varsity cheerleaders during pep rallies and other school activities.

"We've had our ups and downs, tears and joy but through it all we have learned dedication, responsibility and team work," said Anita Alcoze, head cheerleader for JV. - Anita Alcoze.

This was a year of firsts for the Bell Crew. This was the first Bell Crew to ever go to cheerleading camp and the first time for the Bell Crew and cheerleaders to cheer together and work on pyramids. Problems sometimes developed; however, the members learned that personal feelings and opinions must be forgotten to make the group work. Working with the cheerleaders raised school spirit and added a new touch to the games and pep rallies. The members themselves spent time explaining that they put in several hours practice each week contrary to the idea they just went out on the field and did anything that came to mind. The super sponsor "Mr. Right" made all this possible. This year also marked the first appearance of the Big John mascot and the three junior members. — Matt Baker

Elise Tuttle cheers on team spirit. Tuttle has been a cheerleader for three years.

Farmerettes Dazzle 'Em

The Farmerettes continued to establish their tradition of excellence in many ways this year. They won several awards at the July Kilgore Rangerette Drill Team Camp, including the spirit pom and first division ratings in military, prop, dance-novelty and highkick categories. These awards helped them to also win the Sweepstakes trophy. The Farmerettes helped build school spirit by performing at pep rallies, in parades and civic functions and at football games. They also competed at various area competitions exceptionally well, and presented their annual Spring Show in March. The hard working, dedicated Farmerettes are definitely going to continue their tradition of excellence in years to come. —Julie Weaver ♡

It's All Worth It

A typical week in the life of a Farmerette goes something like this... During football season, she must be at school for practice at 6:30 a.m. On Monday, the girls review the routine(s) for tryouts, which are on Tuesday. Each girl must tryout each week in front of the officers and Carrie Croan, director. If she makes two mistakes, she is cut from the routine. Tuesday's afternoon practice is spent re-numbering the line and perfecting the general critiques from tryouts. Both Wednesday and Thursday mornings are spent perfecting the routine, entrance and exit, and V-line. On Thursday afternoon, the drill team and the band practice together on the field. Friday mornings are usually spent practicing jump-splits on the practice field and hearing echoes of "Get up and do it again, girls!" Believe it or not, all of the hard work, long days and repetition pay off on Friday night when the announcer presents the Lewisville Farmerettes. —Julie Weaver ♣

Council — First Rate Show

The Student Council is often the driving force behind a student body. This organization is instrumental in promoting school spirit, organizing public relations for the school, aiding other organizations and actually providing leadership for the entire school.

Homecoming is the first major event of the year.

Many hours are spent organizing and preparing the Homecoming floats which each class is responsible for creating. The council must also run the Homecoming Court and Queen elections and printing, distributing, counting and tallying the ballots.

The Student Council officers run all school elections, preside over all fundraisers, represent the school in the community and make major influencing decisions. All in all, the student council officers, representatives and sponsors work together to serve the student body and the school and to ensure an organized and memorable school year. — Desiree Babler ♡

Yearbook Staffers Count to Ten

Who is behind the pages? Where do the pictures come from? The LHS Farmer is produced annually by a select group of students. Each day in Room 202 during fifth period, it may look like total chaos to any other individual, but actually it's just the staff hard at work. The students behind the publication put in many hours of hard work. They are responsible for the taking and developing of pictures, writing copy, doing layouts and literally putting the book together. A typical day for the annual staff is usually quiet and calm, but when a deadline rolls around . . . look out! Staffers are usually on edge and pressed for time. Last minute details and perfection are always a "must". When one loses his temper or things are just not falling into place properly, the philosophy of the class is to slowly count to 10 until the bottled up pressure is released. Every thing always turns out for the best. All the hours of work and worry always turn out for the better.

The Farmer would not be possible if it weren't for the sponsor, Carolyn Morriss. Her suggestions and guidance help the staff tremendously. The long hours and dedication she puts forth are above and beyond the call of duty. Her smiling face is something that helps the staff through those hectic days. As far as what is learned in yearbook class, Julie Weaver, ad manager said, "Annual staff has taught me responsibility, getting along with others and how to manage my time."

Harvest Staff Presses On

Welcome to Room 202 and the Newspaper Production class. The class is a regularly scheduled fourth period class, but is definitely different. The entire group is in charge of Lewisville High School's weekly publication, "The Farmers' Harvest."

Eleven very dedicated journalism students make up the class, nine of which are staff writers and two which are staff photographers. The week begins on Monday as assignments are given to the entire staff.

Wednesday afternoons are always a challenge. A frenzied atmosphere invades Room 202 as final typing corrections are being made or the layout of a page is being done. This is the time when the "Farmers' Harvest" is constructed. It begins with layout, the general design of the page, which is done by the editors.

The paper is published in both the "Lewisville Daily Leader" and the "Colony Leader" on Friday. Friday is also a deadline for all stories assigned, with the exception of weekend events which all are due Monday.

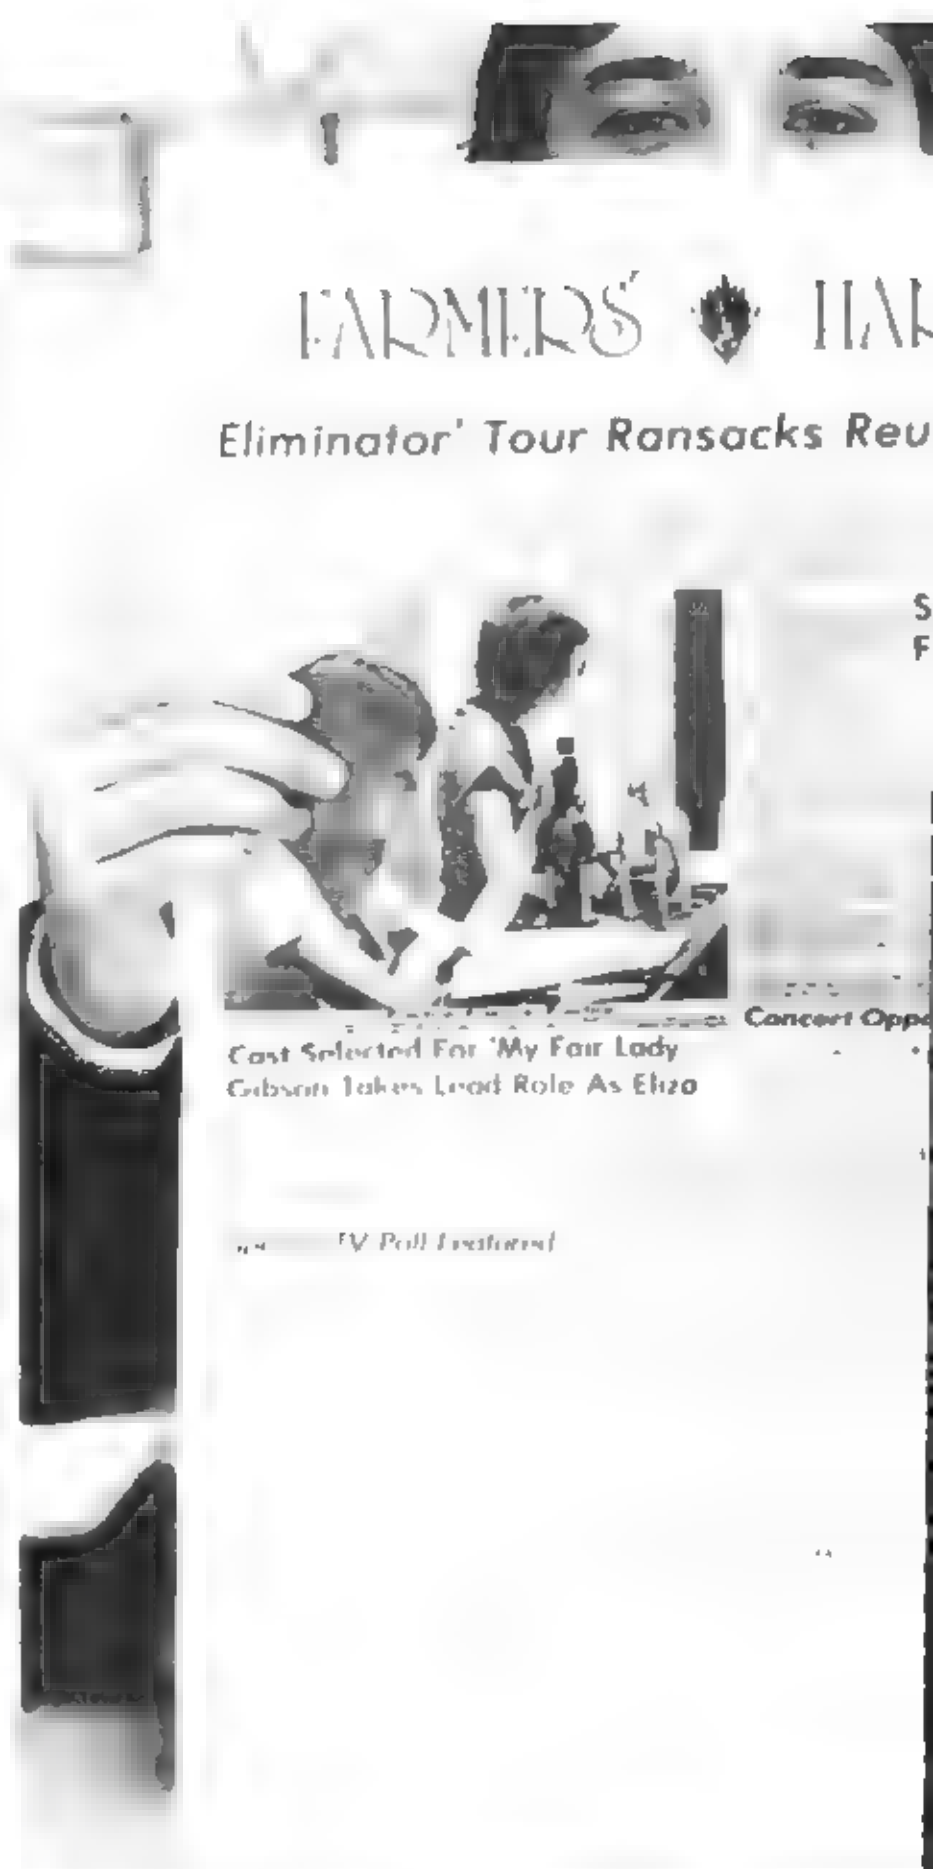

Another Monday hits as stories are assigned and "The Farmers' Harvest" is sold to students during lunch. — Dale Myers ♯

Choir Enhances Talent

The Lewisville High School choir department is an outlet for students who like to do just that ... sing. The department is made up of three groups: Acappella Choir, Women's Chorus and the Main Street Singers, which are directed by Eddie Ranne. "He has done more for the school, the choirs, and for me than I can ever thank him for," said Sheri Holcomb. As Dan Bouchelle said, "There are few teachers that spend as much time or care as much as Mr. Ranne does."

The choir department contributes much to the individual student. Each group meets everyday as a class. During this time the student develops his talents by learning about the music staff and in depth singing techniques. They have two concerts during the year, one at Christmas and one in the spring. While they are not practicing for these concerts, they practice sight-reading and contest pieces for the UIL choir contest in March. In addition to this contest, there is also a series of unrequired contests for individual singers which are eliminations on the way to the state choir. During February there is also a UIL contest, which is unrequired, for solos and ensembles. The Main Street Singers perform frequently around the Dallas/Ft. Worth area upon request. They focus on jazz and pop songs. The choir department has developed a necessary family-like bond, for each student depends much upon the other students. They also saved money for a trip to Orlando, Florida where they participated in a contest. — Kris Erickson

Thespians Play the Part

The International Thespian's Society was organized to advance the standards of excellence in theatre and to have an organization where talented actors and actresses can be with others with like interests. Often, people think theatre people are strange, but this is because they are not afraid to be themselves. Thespians gives theatre students a better awareness of professional theatre as they learn how to deal with problems that will be faced in the acting profession. Theatre is not all egos and spotlights. There is a lot of sweat and tears, but they are a family and like a family, they stick together. This is the first of many years with the International Thespians Society. Debate, Speech Show Excellence

In 1979, the name "Lewisville" was never mentioned on the Dallas speech and debate circuit. Now, five years later, Lewisville has built a name for itself because of the achievements of the LHS speech and debate teams. These teams began with only a handful of students, but in the last four years, the activity has grown to include numerous varsity and novice debaters and speakers. Debate Coach Sally Squibb-Tate said that "it has been a neat learning experience for me to watch the program grow and develop into a successful, visible representation of LHS in the competitive world."

Debate is a form of organized argumentation in which the debater must take a stand on an issue of current national or international significance. Each spring, a national committee selects the debate topic for the following school year, giving the debaters time to do extensive research during the summer. In recent years, the topics have included foreign trade, education, consumer goods and arms sales. This year's topic is RESOLVED: that the United States should establish uniform rules governing the procedure of all criminal courts in the nation.

The Lewisville speech team has also grown rapidly within the past few years.

Terri Ilchen and Suzanne Prichard prepare a speech for their public speaking class. The class prepares students for speaking in front of large groups of people.

Students participate in Original Oratory, consisting of a 10 minute memorized persuasive speech and Extemporaneous Speaking, in which the speaker has 30 minutes to prepare a seven minute memorized speech.

In the spring, the speech and debate teams often attend the Texas Forensic Association State Tournament as well as UIL State. At these tournaments, the speakers put all the knowledge of the previous year into one all-out effort.

The speech and debate teams also participate in the Mock Trial competition. Each year, the Dallas Bar Foundation sends a court case to all the high schools in Texas. Each school must research the case and choose witnesses and lawyers in order to prepare for competition. Novice debater Tammy West, participating in Mock Trial this year for the first time said, "Mock Trial is very interesting because it teaches us how a real court trial works. It's a lot of hard work, but it's also fun." In fact, everyone who has ever participated in speech and debate can attest to its value as a fun and educational experience. Debaters deal in thought and language, and as author Lawrence Durrell once wrote, "It is language that creates national character."

Academics Top Priority for NHS

The National Honor Society is an association for students who excel academically in the school. The Society embraces high standards of scholarship, service, leadership and character, which are bound in a moral and ethical framework. By utilizing and exemplifying these four traits, NHS members help to counter negative forces evident in society today. The Lewisville chapter of NHS originated in 1961. The society's present sponsors are Patsy Roe, Mike Crivello, Audrey Martin and Peggy Gentry. The purpose of the NHS as stated in the handbook is that "The NHS would counteract a prevalent tendency among secondary schools to place undue emphasis upon individual performance in the various athletic events by giving excessive and expensive awards." Accordingly, Roe reveals that "Our NHS awards of Excellence Banquet each spring gives us an opportunity to recognize individuals who excel in academic subjects and, in the fine arts." Furthermore NHS plans to promote volunteer tutoring, thus, providing help for those who could not otherwise obtain it. The Lewisville tradition is to contribute to the intellectual and cultural achievements of the high school. The tradition is one which all members strive to achieve. — Sheila Amin

Whiz Quiz Beneficial

Just what is Whiz Quiz? This question is often asked by students when they first learn about the team. The name is pretty much self-explanatory. Whiz Quiz might be described as a competition played by persons who are of remarkable ability in tests. The individual best equipped to compete in Whiz Quiz is one who has broad knowledge over a wide range of subjects. Questions are asked in rapid-fire manner over topics such as art, music, history, science, mathematics and current events. The basic purpose of the game, however, is not so much competition as it is having an enjoyable time. Whiz Quiz broadens the intellectual horizons of its members, helps contribute to the reputation of LHS as an academically solid school and enhances the positive picture of Lewisville as a whole. — Charles Pace

FFA — FHA Provide Opportunities

The Lewisville Future Farmers of America offers three courses of education, cooperative part time training, pre-employment laboratory in agriculture resources plus production agriculture.

FFA does not only teach farming, it teaches the student how to care for an animal over a period of time. It teaches sportsmanship, leadership, welding, ranch management, soils and crop science. Leadership is a strong source in the FFA. To be in the FFA, you have to start as a Greenhand and work your way up to a Lone Star Farmer. Students Excel In Honor Clubs Honor students have always been an integral part of Lewisville High School. Three of these, Mu Alpha Theta, Spanish National Honor Society and French National Honor Society, are composed of many members.

Mu Alpha Theta is an organization created for students who show an outstanding academic performance in the mathematical field.

The Lewisville chapter of Mu Alpha Theta originated in 1976. In the spring, the Math Club sponsors a math tournament for the junior high school students in the metroplex. OEA Strives For Recognition OEA began over 12 years ago at Lewisville with one thought in mind — to prepare young men and women to become leaders in the ever-expanding business world outside of high school. Today, 1983-1984, this goal still exists in OEA.

The Office Education Association of LHS is growing fast. OEA offers leadership through local chapter officers and representatives to such heights as state and national officers. It also offers competitive skills and training as well as basic office functions of the business world. But, most importantly, OEA offers friendship among high school students involved in the same program as well as being able to develop skills for the future.

OEA offers a variety of events throughout the year which coincide with the Vocational Office Education classes. After the officer elections in October, a Christmas dance is scheduled with the other clubs of LHS. In February, OEA offers a Valentine gathering and the Region II competition slated for NTSU. March marks the time for State Competition held in Dallas during Spring Break. And finally, Indianapolis is the site for the National Conference and Competition to be held in late April and early May. —

DECA Gives Working Experience

DECA is a co-curricular organization with three phases, classroom instructional program, activities relating to marketing and distribution and on the job training. One purpose of DECA includes a respect for education in marketing and distribution which will contribute to occupational competence. Texas became a charter member of national DECA in 1983. For many years Lewisville High School had only one DECA program. But in recent years, because of high demand, three programs consisting of a pre-employment lab, D.E. I and D.E. II are offered. Some of the activities this year include Frank Abagnale White Collar Crime Specialist, first out-of-state field trip to Free Enterprise Square U.S. in Oklahoma City, scavenger hunt and pizza party, vocational Christmas Gong show, preliminary competition at Northwood Institute, Area Competition in Dallas and State Competition in San Antonio. Also in April was the annual employer employee banquet at Granny's Dinner Playhouse.

DECA gives the community a chance at hiring students trained in the field of marketing and distribution who have a better respect for their training stations. DECA gives students a chance to learn more about their jobs and to have a better outlook on the world today. Crystal Thompson, chapter president, said she has learned from DECA "about the Free Enterprise System and how it will affect me in the future. It has shown me leadership abilities and how to perform my best on the job. I've also learned many things in the field of marketing and distribution."

Darrin Lewis, Area II vice president and chapter vice president, replied, "DECA has turned my life completely around. It has helped my leadership abilities to mature and to have a better outlook on the Free Enterprise system we live in today."

"Students have so many opportunities available to them through DECA. Their working experiences will be with them throughout their lives," said Keigh Martin, coordinator. — Darrin Lewis

VOCT/IA Teach Students Skills

The VOCT club at Lewisville High School has been active since 1976. The purpose of the club is to give students the opportunity to learn meaningful job skills so that when they get their diploma they can enter the world of work with marketable skills. The main activities of the club include the UIL contest in the spring and the Employer-Employee Banquet at the end of the school year. The club has helped many students receive their degree and offers the community trained workers that help the school image. "I've enjoyed being in VOCT the two years I've been in it. I really learned that I can handle responsibilities," said Raymond Perez — Raymond Perez ♡ The Industrial Arts Club's purpose is to provide an extra-curricular activity for the students of this school and community. The courses which enable a person to be in the club are metal and wood shop, drafting and crafts. This club was started in 1966 and has been active for 18 years. Members have held nine state offices and two national offices. It has always been this club's ambition to do something good for the students of LHS and its community so the group has sponsored food and paper drives each year. — Chris Hall ♡

VICA Develops Valuable Skills

The purpose of Vocational Industrial Clubs of America is to get a head start in industrial, technical and health training. The program is designed for and run by students. VICA develops the "whole" student: his social and leadership abilities as well as other skills.

Students in VICA learn valuable skills. By discussion of problems, goals and by shaping a common interest, the lesson learned can be applied to later situations in life.

Vocational trade and industrial education is not a new idea but dates back to the late 1920s and early 1930s when America was in an economic depression. As a result, opportunities were limited for students who needed a head start in training for industrial occupations.

As a direct result, VICA became a nationwide organization for youth.

The clubs contribute to the school and community by preparing the students with diligent study and ardent practices to become workers whose services will be recognized as honorable by their employers and fellow workers. The program gives students a chance to develop leadership and citizenship, two important qualities. —

HERO Provides Opportunities

The Home Economics Related Occupation Club is designed to provide opportunities that will strengthen and encourage interest in home economics careers and related occupations. In 1972 the Lewisville High School chapter was founded one year after the National Advisory Board and National Executive Council of the Future Homemakers of America approved the expansion of the organization to include HERO. This year the club activities included social events such as skating and dinner parties and the annual officer installation ceremony. In the community the club was involved in the Youth Against Cancer campaign which included the Great American Smoke-Out. They also sponsored holiday parties at local nursing homes for the elderly. The HERO club helps its youths assume active roles in society through Home Economic Education in areas of personal growth, family life, vocational preparation and community involvement. "For me, being a member and an officer of HERO has taught me responsibility and how to be mature in job and family related situations," said Tammy Daley, president of HERO/HECE. — Tammy Daley ♯

HOSA Fosters Leadership Qualities

Health Occupations Students of America (HOSA) was started as a national organization in Arlington, Texas in 1976. HOSA was established to promote understanding of health careers, develop leadership qualities and increase public speaking abilities. Besides these qualities, HOSA students also learn respect, honor and responsibility. "HOSA is a club made of teenagers with a common interest, which allows us to have fun and learn at the same time," said Sherri Copeland.

Besides just attending contests, there was also a leadership conference held in Lewisville this year. HOSA also helps the community by taking blood pressures, helping the school nurses, and becoming involved in various school and community projects. HOSA members try to set a good example for other students. The club helps the members too, by putting them in contact with fellow teenagers with common interests and with the same hopes. Health Occupation Students of America is a club that the members are proud to be a part of. — Sherri Copeland ♡

Administrator's Goal One Of High Success

The administration, principals and office staff keep Lewisville High School in satisfactory working order. Without them the school could not function as a whole. They are a very major part of our high school.

The principal and vice principals hold an important part in the development of our school. Principal Doug Killough has the many responsibilities of school budget, scheduling, student attendance, assisting other administrators and much more. The assistant principals, Malcolm Dennis, Jill Spanheimer and Greg Veal, are accountable for certain obligations such as student discipline, teacher development and the supervision of school activities. Assistant Principal Greg Veal is the newest member of the trio. He was a former LHS chemistry teacher and a golf instructor.

In addition, the counseling staff is composed of Beverly Martin, head counselor, Arlene Bentson, Joyce LaFond, Murray Spidell and Chuck Wheeler. Besides counseling students, they execute schedule changes, set up major testing and assist students in college plans.

The day-to-day routines are handled by the office workers. They do various jobs such as handling attendance, keeping records straight, handling appointments, registering new students and working the telephone switchboard. Without their aid school life would be total chaos. ♡

To Be or Not to Be An English Person . . .

Can you read this? If so, then you have achieved a major goal in the learning process. Having every student learn basic reading and writing is the aim of all English teachers. When the sophomores entered LHS, they were required to take grammar and a survey of world literature. This is also the first year a research paper is required. World literature included learning about nuclear warfare by reading "Alas Babylon." Students also read "Oedipus Rex" and "Julius Caesar" as well as numerous short stories. However, the major emphasis was on learning grammar. The next step for the LHS student is junior English. Emphasis is on the study of American literature. Here students read such notables as "The Scarlet Letter," "Billy Budd," "The Crucible" and "Our Town." Juniors continue to improve research skills by composing a research paper. While it is a difficult and trying year, junior English enables the student to be better prepared for senior English.

The final year provides a choice of grammar or research/composition one semester and a semester of British literature. Gone are the days of courses in creative writing and science fiction. Grammar classes include a heavy dose of diagramming phrases, clauses and sentences, elements necessary for good speech and writing. Research/composition provides the opportunity to write another research paper. British literature students read such classics as Shakespeare's "Hamlet" and "Macbeth", Huxley's "Brave New World" and Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales." During "Canterbury Tales" the students were given a chance to bring out the best of their acting abilities when they dressed up as their assigned character. All in all, these required courses gave the student a solid foundation to take with them after graduation. — Jeanne Rau ♡

B² If You Dare In Math

The dreaded math courses at LHS aren't as difficult as imagined. There are many levels, one to fit every student. Two years of math are required for every student to graduate from LHS.

The Math Department is headed by Linnie Odneal, who has been teaching here for over 13 years. At the present time, she is teaching geometry and trigonometry/elementary analysis.

Geometry is a different way of thinking. In this course, the students study theorems, postulates, proofs, proofs and more proofs. It is one of the many courses offered to help prepare students for college math.

Algebra provides study in various algebraic functions such as logarithms, graphs and $2x + 3 = 10x$. Even though it is a difficult concept, anyone who applies himself and studies can be successful with these calculations.

The honors courses offered are trigonometry, elementary analysis and probability statistics. These provide the student with firm foundations in the mathematical field.

The newest addition to the math department is the computers. They provide the students with the basic background needed to learn computer language and programming. Being the wave of the future, these computers have proven to be successful in expanding the student's learning abilities. — Jean Rau ♡

Science Offers Chance To Be All You Can Be

When someone says "Go fly a kite!", it's normally taken as a put down, But in the LHS science department it's just one of many projects encountered by students who dare to enter that fascinating world. The one project most enjoyed by physics students involved the approximately 35 foot egg drop from the top of the football stadium. Each student was required to build the perfect container so that when dropped, the egg did not break. Physics classes also set off rockets and flew kites to test physics laws.

In other areas of science students in biology studied muscles, bones and dissecting. Other classes studied geology, minerals and flora and fauna in the empty field across from the high school. Advanced students also conducted experiments in classes.

Studying science becomes a fascinating and rewarding journey for those students who take the required two years and more at LHS. —

History Plays Major Part In Learning

Do you know three people who signed the Declaration of Independence or who Millard Fillmore was? These questions and many more can be answered in the Social Studies Department.

As a sophomore, the student is required to take world history. Here the study begins with the first record of time and explores major events and turning points in history up to the present. With this solid background, the sophomores are prepared for American history. This is an in-depth study of America, beginning with the Civil War. Interesting facts provide a good learning atmosphere as well as teaching students their American heritage.

When the final year arrives, students are required to take a full year of civics which includes state and local government and American government. These provide a solid foundation of the court systems, citizen's rights and the political process. The students are encouraged to attend a city council, school board or any governmental body meeting. Many students also wrote to governmental officials such as Speaker of the House Tip O'Neill, Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox or Rep. Jim Horn for extra credit. In these letters they expressed their opinions of various concerns. — Jeanne Rau

There's So Much Work To Be Done

Lewisville High School seldom appreciates the hard work and dedication put forth by the cafeteria ladies and custodians. These people are the ones who do the tasks of feeding us at lunch and keeping our school beautiful and clean. The cafeteria ladies and custodians are a very needed part of our school.

Both of these groups put a lot of dedication and work into our school. The cafeteria ladies toil from morning until mid-afternoon preparing our meals. They have a big responsibility to make each meal nutritious and delicious. Not only are the cafeteria ladies hard at work, but also the custodians contribute their fine quality of performance to keep our school clean. ♣

Sweeping can be hard on the back. Clyde Bradley sweeps the cafeteria floors.

Ooh, these trays are heavy! Kathy Johns stacks trays during lunch.

THANKS —

I owe a lot of appreciation and gratitude to all my family and friends who have helped me live and survive these first 18 years of my life and high school. Most of all, to my parents and two brothers. You've all meant so much to me during my life I can't express enough of what I owe to you. No matter what my temper or attitude was or is — I've always cared and always will. I also want and need to thank all of this year's "Harvest" staff and the photographers. You all showed a great deal of dedication and hard work and I appreciate it. And of course I couldn't forget Miss Morris. For without you I would have never learned to count to 10 (or 20 or 30) and thus, would have never made it. To all my second period "buddies" I owe time and much thanks for putting up with me for a whole year, which wasn't easy! Mrs. Briscoe, Mrs. Feagins and Mrs. Rhoden for all your time and knowledge. But I owe quite a bit to all those people I didn't have the time (or the money) to mention. The rest of the faculty, the student body and seniors. Thanks for the wonderful moments and good luck to all of you!

Fellow Seniors,
Throughout the end of 1983 and the first half of 1984 we worked hard for graduation! Now that it's near we are beginning to wonder whether it's worth it. We are dreading the break-up of friendships and worrying about the life ahead of us. My only wish is that everyone attempts all, what you fail you can consider as an experience, what you succeed in you can consider as an accomplishment. But if you never attempt, you will never know!! Good Luck!

To All My Teachers,
Thanks for your support. Continue to teach and all will continue to learn (at different speeds, rates and capacities)
~~but all will learn~~

To Dale,
Don't ever put on another shirt or sweater of mine for the rest of your life! (And give me your set of keys to MY car!)

To Mom and Dad,
Nothing I could say would compensate for all you've given me!

I love you! Darren Myers

"The Farmer," the 1984 LHS yearbook, was printed by Taylor Publishing Company of Dallas, Texas. Acie Mitchell is our company representative from Taylor. The theme, "Standing Room Only," was developed by Editor Jean Rau and the yearbook staff. Cover, endsheet and division page designs were created by Kelly Morgan. The cover is White 088 with applied colors in maroon and black and gold foil inlay with whirlpool grain. Headline and body copy in the opening section is Souvenir 142; the rest of the book is Century Schoolbook 45. The book is printed on 80 pound enamel paper, with a Smyth binding. This year 1,550 books were printed at a cost of $20 each to the buyer. Names were printed on some books at an additional charge of $5. Photographs in the annual, with the exception of school portraits, were taken, processed and printed by students of LHS. Senior and underclassman photos were taken by School Pictures, Inc.

'I couldn't have made it without the crew' — Andrea

'This year has been filled with friends, excitement and nervous break downs.' — Connie

'Dedication means staying late after school to meet the deadlines.' — Tracy

'This year has been enjoyable along with hard work and dedication.' — Mark

'This has definitely been an experience and I would never have made it had it not been for Miss Morriss and especially Jeanne Rau. I love you both!' — Becca

'I am not perfect!' — David

'This is a great bunch of people and I'm glad I was able to be a part of the fun!' — Craig

Through "Standing Room Only" the LHS annual staff has worked hard to capture the moments that we will remember for the rest of our lives. We will have spent six and a half months filled with hard work and determination to make this book the best. Deadlines were more than hectic and by counting to ten we were able to control our tempers (most of the time). As Editor of the 83-84 yearbook, I would like to personally thank the staff for their hard work. Everyone put forth the extra effort that was needed to make the yearbook successful. I couldn't have asked for a more talented and fun group of people to work with. I will always remember a lot of "wild" days in room 202. The one person to whom thanking cannot even come close to what she deserves is Carolyn Morriss, our advisor. Without her, this yearbook could not have been possible. Her encouragement, enthusiasm and the ability not to give up on us during deadlines was more than we could have asked for. Thank you for being an advisor, teacher and most of all a friend. These past four years at LHS fill me with fond memories, that I will cherish forever. My senior year is coming to an end all too quickly. I have made life long friends that mean the world to me. My mother and father have always encouraged me to do my best in everything I do. I hope they are as proud of me as I am of them. This is my final contribution to LHS and the Class of '84. Good luck to everyone as we now face new challenges. Thanks also go to Carol Cooper, Michelle Rodden, School Pics, Inc. Beverly Weber, Shirey Shelton, Leigh Sirianni, Louisa Morgan, Mandalay Four Seasons, Brian Scott and Diane Rogers.

And Now It's Time to Sit Down

As the 83-84 school year comes to an end we probably will not remember the "standing room only" in the crowded hallways as we look back upon this year. What we will remember are the fun-filled moments and new friends we have made. The students have more or less grown used to the overcrowdedness. Next year will be different, for part of the crowd problem will be moved to Marcus. There will only be the class of '85 and '86 to roam the halls. They will set the traditions for the "new" LHS Senior High School.
